

Colony Acres × Crowd7 — Fall 2026 Strategy Call Recap

Date: May 21, 2026

Attendees: Bryan Japhet (Crowd7) · Katie (Colony Acres)

Purpose: Lock the fall offer, bundles, pricing, and packaging — the foundation that drives the page design, every email, every SMS, and the Meta/Google ads for the season.

The Headline

We mapped your whole fall, Katie. The way we work is in stages, and stage one is always the same: finalize the offer, the bundles, the pricing, and the packaging first — because that's what shapes all of our messaging for the rest of the season. We got there on this call. We now have a confirmed pricing structure, a standout new bundle to drive launch-day volume, a four-part campaign calendar, and the season dates locked. From here the team gets to work building.

The centerpiece is a new Launch Day Special — a limited, packed-value ticket designed to create real urgency the moment the flash sale opens.

Season Dates (Locked)

- Season opens Saturday, September 19 → Saturday, October 31.
- Open Wednesday through Sunday each week.
- Two bonus Mondays added: September 21 and October 12 (Columbus Day).
- We're closing after October 31. November 1 just doesn't draw enough to be worth opening.

The Flash Sale (Your Kickoff)

- Runs August 26–30 (Wednesday–Sunday), with a planned one-day extension to August 31.
- This is the best pricing of the entire season — 20% off general admission — and we'll protect it as the best deal anyone gets all year.

Pricing Decided

Flash sale prices (Aug 26–31):

- Weekday: $10.40
- Weekend: $11.95
- Season Pass (flash): $31.95

Regular / in-season anchors (what we protect once the flash sale ends):

- Weekday online: $13.50 (up from $11.50 last year)
- At-the-gate weekend: $18.00
- Season Pass: $39.95

The Launch Day Special — The Centerpiece

A brand-new, limited-quantity bundle designed to be an absolute steal and move volume on day one.

- Price: $17.95
- Valid: any day of the season (so it doesn't get compared against a season pass)
- Limited to the first 300 buyers
- Includes: a pumpkin + a donut + your choice of a lemonade or a slushie
- The value: roughly $36 worth ($18 weekend admission + $9 pumpkin + $6 drink + ~$3 donut) — about 50% off.

Why this works: the messaging across email, SMS, and Meta will lead with “first 300 people get 50% off.” People won’t know exactly what that means until they land on the page and see the deal — and that drives the click. The moment those 300 sell, the sold-out tag becomes its own urgency engine for the rest of the flash sale. Mat is building a pop-up that upsells buyers into the Launch Day Special while it’s still available.

The Campaign Plan — Four Tiers

We’ll run four campaigns across the season (not three — we added the lead-up), each feeding the next:

1. Lead-Up — the week before the flash sale.

- Three emails to your existing audience announcing the flash sale goes live.
- A small Meta campaign driving brand-new sign-ups to get on the list for early access.

2. Flash Sale — August 26–30 (+ extension to 31).

- The core push: emails + SMS, anchored by the Launch Day Special.

3. Early Bird / Labor Day — sustaining momentum after the flash sale.

- A Labor Day push to keep sales steady through the gap before the season opens. We may re-open a limited Launch-Day-style special and lightly discount the season pass — Bryan will finalize the exact mechanics and send them over. We will not relaunch flash-sale pricing; that stays the best deal of the year.

4. In-Season — ongoing emails through the open season.

That’s roughly 21 emails total across the four tiers. SMS is reserved for the flash sale specifically, so we don’t over-message your list.

Ad Budget

- $10K earmarked for fall across Meta and Google.
- We’re watching return on ad spend closely. If you’re hitting a 3–4x ROAS, the spend more than pays for itself, and we can scale it up — the budget is a starting point, not a ceiling.

How Approvals Will Work

To keep this simple on your end, we’ll send everything in two batches instead of one email at a time:

- Batch 1: the lead-up + flash sale campaign — emails, ad copy, and SMS.
- Batch 2: the Labor Day / early-bird + in-season emails and ad copy.

Your only job is to read through each batch, make sure we’ve got the event details right, redline anything that’s changed or unavailable, and approve. Goal: everything built and to you by end of June / early July. After that, we’re off to the races.

Also On The Radar (Separate Tracks)

These came up and we’re tracking them — they sit alongside the fall campaign, not inside it:

- Bourbon / Farm-to-Table Dinner (Sept 10). An exclusive ~100-seat dinner the Thursday before opening, catered by an outside partner. It won’t live on the main ticketing page. We’ll segment your list and send roughly two emails to your past farm-to-table audience — no SMS, so it doesn’t crowd the flash-sale push.

- Birthday & Group Party Packages. We'll move back to a proper package model (tickets bundled with add-ons), worded to cover all groups — not just birthdays. Your existing group discount ($1 off per ticket at 20+ bought together) carries over. Priority is getting these booked; Bryan is drafting a party marketing strategy + setup page.
- Winter Special Events. Horse-drawn carriage rides and Breakfast with Santa (basic + VIP). We'll set a separate strategy session for these, ideally before the fall season wraps so we can push them at the right time.
- Halloween (Oct 31, a Saturday). An idea worth considering: a mid-morning trunk-or-treat / farm scavenger hunt (~10 AM–2/3 PM) so families can come in costume early, then head home to trick-or-treat their own neighborhoods. Not finalized — just on the table.

Action Items & Owners

Crowd7

- Finalize the ticketing page setup + design, plus the fall website updates.
- Build all drips across the four tiers — target end of June / early July.
- Build the Launch Day Special ticket type and the flash-sale upsell pop-up (Mat).
- Set up the audience segmentation for the bourbon dinner.
- Draft the party / group marketing strategy + setup page (Bryan).
- Send the campaign for approval in two batches.

Colony Acres (Katie)

- Review + approve both campaign batches when they land.
- Add your page-change notes to the shared strategy doc for Mat — anything you're imagining for the fall ticketing page and the website.
- Send over the bourbon dinner details (dates, content, audience) and the past farm-to-table guest list.

Thanks for a great working session, Katie. The foundation is set — the team's building from here, and you'll see the first batch for approval soon.